Journal de Théorie des Nombres
de Bordeaux 11 (1999), 1–13

A Survey of Computational Class Field Theory

par Henri COHEN

ABSTRACT. We give a survey of computational class field theory. We first explain how to compute ray class groups and discriminants of the corresponding ray class fields. We then explain the three main methods in use for computing an equation for the class fields themselves: Kummer theory, Stark units and complex multiplication. Using these techniques we can construct many new number fields, including fields of very small root discriminant.

Henri COHEN
Laboratoire A2X
Institut Mathématiques Bordeaux
351 cours de la Libération
F-33405 Talence Cedex
E-mail : `cohen@math.u-bordeaux.fr`